TABLE D VOCATIONAL MINOR

CULTURAL HERITAGE AND TOURISM

From the Minor courses given below two groups (six courses) can be offered to the students who have taken History as major discipline and also to students from other Major discipline. These courses emphasize the practical application of historical knowledge in preserving cultural heritage and promoting tourism, which makes them very relevant today. They offer a distinct focus that sets them apart from the major courses in the history discipline. Additionally, students who pursue these courses can further their education through specialized higher studies, enhancing their expertise and career prospects in these dynamic fields.

To continue to study History in semesters 7 and 8, batch B1 (A2) needs to earn additional 15 credits in History to make the total credits of 68. Suppose this condition is achieved, and the student of batch B1 (A2) proceeds to the next semesters to study History. The course structure in semesters 7 and 8 is the same as for pathways 1-4, except that the number of the core and elective courses is in continuation of the number of courses in the two categories completed at the end of semester 6, taking into account the number of courses in History taken online to earn the additional 15 credits.

EVALUATION SCHEME

- 1. The evaluation scheme for each course contains two parts: internal evaluation (about 30%) and external evaluation (about 70%). Each of the Major and Minor courses is of 4-credits. It is evaluated for 100 marks, out of which 30 marks is from internal evaluation and 70 marks, from external evaluation. Each of the General Foundation course is of 3-credits. It is evaluated for 75 marks, out of which 25 marks is from internal evaluation and 50 marks, from external evaluation.
- 2. The 4-credit courses (Major and Minor courses) are of two types: (i) courses with only theory and (ii) courses with 3-credit theory and 1-credit practical
 - In 4-credit courses with only theory component, out of the total 5 modules of the syllabus, one open-ended module with 20% content is designed by the faculty member teaching that course, and it is internally evaluated for 10

- marks. The internal evaluation of the remaining 4 theory modules is for 20 marks.
- In 4-credit courses with 3-credit theory and 1-credit practicum components, out of the total 5 modules of the syllabus, 4 modules are for theory and the fifth module is for practicum. The practicum component is internally evaluated for 20 marks. The internal evaluation of the 4 theory modules is for 10 marks
- 3. All the 3-credit courses (General Foundational Courses) in History are with only theory component. Out of the total 5 modules of the syllabus, one open-ended module with 20% content is designed by the faculty member teaching that course, and it is internally evaluated for 5 marks. The internal evaluation of the remaining 4 theory modules is for 20 marks.
- 4. Students can write external examination in history either completely in English or in Malayalam.

1.2EVALUATION OF PRACTICUM COMPONENT

The evaluation of practicum component in Major and Minor courses is completely by internal evaluation.

- Continuous evaluation of practicum by the teacher-in-charge shall carry a weightage of 50%.
- The end-semester practicum examination and viva-voce, and the evaluation of practicum activities shall be conducted by the teacher-in-charge and an internal examiner appointed by the Department Council.
- The process of continuous evaluation of practicum component shall be completed before 10 days from the commencement of the end-semester examination.
- Those who passed in continuous evaluation alone will be permitted to appear for the end-semester examination and viva-voce.

The scheme of continuous evaluation and the end-semester examination and vivavoce of practicum component shall be as given below:

Sl. No.	Evaluation of Practicum Component of Credit -1 in a Major/Minor course	Marks for Practicum	Weightage
1	Continuous evaluation of practicum/exercise performed in practicum classes by the students	10	50%
2	End-semester examination and viva-voce to be conducted by teacher-in-charge along with an additional examiner arranged internally by the Department Council	7	35%
3	Evaluation of the Practicum activity reports submitted for the end semester viva-voce examination by the teacher-in-charge and additional examiner	3	15%
	Total Marks	20

1.3 EXTERNAL EVALUATION OF THEORY COMPONENT

External evaluation carries 70% marks. Examinations will be conducted at the end of each semester. Individual questions are evaluated in marks and the total marks are converted into

2.INTERNSHIP

- All students should undergo an internship of 2credits during the first six semesters in a firm, industry or organization, or training in labs with faculty and researchers of their institution or other Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) or researchinstitutions.
- Internship can be for enhancing the employability of the student or for developing the research aptitude.
- Internship can involve hands-on training on a particular skill/ equipment/ software. It can be a short project on a specific problem or area. Attending seminars or workshops related to an area of learning or skill can be a component of an internship.
- A faculty member/instructor of the respective institution, where the student does the Internship, should be the supervisor of the Internship.

2.1. GUIDELINES FOR INTERNSHIP

- 1. Internships can be done in History or allied disciplines or related skills.
- 2. There should be a minimum of 60 hrs. of engagement from the student in the Internship.
- 3. Summer vacations and other holidays can be used for completing the Internship.
- 4. In the BA History Honours programme, an institute/ industry visits or study tour is a requirement for the completion of the Internship. Visit to a minimum of one national research institute, research laboratory and place of historical and cultural importance should be part of the study tour. A brief report of the study tour has to be submitted with photos and analysis.
- 5. The students should make regular and detailed entries into a personal log book throughout the period of the Internship. The logbook will be a record of the progress of the Internship and the time spent on the work, and it will be useful in writing the final - report. It may contain interaction with skilled people and results, ideas, processes and strategies used, technology utilized etc. All entries should be dated. The Internship supervisor should periodically examine and countersign the log book.

- 6. The log book and the typed report must be submitted at the end of the Internship.
- 7. The institution at which the Internship will be carried out should be approved by the Department Council of the college where the student has enrolled for the UG (Honours) programme. The Department has to prepare a list of institutions in advance to arrange internships for students.

2.2. EVALUATION OF INTERNSHIP

- The evaluation of the Internship shall be done internally through continuous assessment mode by a committee internally constituted by the Department Councilof the college where the student has enrolled for the UG Honours programme.
- The credits and marks for the Internship will be awarded only at the end of the 6thsemester.
- The scheme of continuous evaluation and the end-semester viva-voce examination based on the submitted report shall be as given below:

3.PROJECT

3.1. PROJECT IN HONOURS PROGRAMME

In the Honours programme, the student has the option to do a Project of 12 credits instead of three Core Courses in Major in semester 8.

- The Project can be done in the same institution/any other higher educational institution (HEI)/research centre/training centre
- The Project in Honours programme can be a short research work or an extended internship or a skill-based training programme
- A faculty member of the respective institution, where the student does the Project, should be the supervisor of the Project.

3.2. PROJECT IN HONOURS WITH RESEARCH PROGRAMME

- Students who secure 75% marks and above (equivalently, CGPA 7.5 and above) cumulatively in the first six semesters are eligible to get selected for Honours with Research stream in the fourth year.
- A relaxation of 5% in marks (equivalently, a relaxation of 0.5 grade in CGPA) is allowed for those belonging to SC/ST/OBC (non-creamy layer)/Differently-Abled/Economically Weaker Section (EWS)/other categories of candidates as per the decision of the UGC from time to time
- In the Honours with Research programme, the student has to do a mandatory Research Project of 12 credits instead of three Core Courses in Major in semester 8.
- The approved research centres of the University of Calicut or any other university/ HEI can offer the Honours with Research programme. The departments in the affiliated colleges under the University of Calicut, which are not the approved research centres of the University, should get prior approval from the University to offer the Honours with Research programme. Such departments should have minimum two faculty members with Ph.D., and they should also have the necessary infrastructure to offer Honours with the Research programme.
- A faculty member of the University/ College with a Ph.D. degree can supervise the research project of the students who have enrolled for Honours with Research. One such

- faculty member can supervise a maximum five students in Honours with Research stream.
- The maximum intake of the department for Honours with Research programme is fixed by the department based on the number of faculty members eligible for project supervision, and other academic, research, and infrastructural facilities available.
- If a greater number of eligible students are opting for the Honours with Research programme than the number of available seats, then the allotment shall be based on the existing rules of reservations and merits

3.3. GUIDELINES FOR THE PROJECT IN HONOURS PROGRAMME

AND HONOURS WITH RESEARCH PROGRAMME

- 1. The project can be in History or allied disciplines or interdisciplinary in character.
- 2. The project should be done individually.
- 3. Project work can be data/fieldwork/technology based etc., in nature.
- 4. There should be a minimum 360 hrs. of engagement from the student in the Project work in Honours programme as well as in Honours with Research programme
- 5. There should be minimum 13hrs./week of engagement (the hours corresponding to the three core courses in Major in semester 8) from the teacher in the guidance of the Project(s) in Honours programme and Honours with Research programme
- 6. The various steps in project works are the following:
 - ➤ Identification of the research problem and fixation of research questions
 - > Literature review of the topic.
 - ➤ Investigation of the problem by using appropriate techniques and methodology.
 - > Systematic recording of the work/data collection.
 - > Reporting the results with interpretation in a standard documented form.
 - Presenting the results before the examiners.
 - 7. During the Project the students should make regular and detailed entries into a personal log book through the period of investigation. The logbook will be a record of the progress of the Project and the time spent on the work, and it will be useful in writing the final report. It may contain details of data collection, analysis of data, fieldwork and results, ideas, reports of interaction with people and experts, primary evidence consulted, methodology applied etc. All entries should be dated. The Project supervisor should periodically examine and countersign the log book.
 - 8. The log book and the typed report must be submitted at the end of the Project. A copy - of the report should be kept for reference at the department and in the library of the college. A soft copy of the report too should be submitted, to be sent to the external examiner in advance. The college has to publish these reports through the website of the department or college

- 9. It is desirable, but not mandatory, to publish the results of the Project in a peer-reviewed journal.
- 10. The project report shall have an undertaking from the student and a certificate from the research supervisor for the originality of the work, stating that there is no plagiarism and that the work has not been submitted for the award of any other degree/ diploma in the same institution or any other institution.
- 11. The project proposal, the institution at which the project is being carried out, and the project supervisor should be approved by the Department Council of the collegewhere the student has enrolled for the UG Honours programme

3.4. EVALUATION OF PROJECT

- The evaluation of the Project will be conducted at the end of the eighth semester by both internal and external modes.
- The Project in Honours programme as well as that in Honours with Research programme will be evaluated for 300 marks. Out of this, 90 marks is from internal evaluation and 210 marks, from external evaluation.
- The internal evaluation of the Project work shall be done through continuous assessment mode by a committee internally constituted by the Department Councilof the college where the student has enrolled for the UG Honours programme. 30% of the weightage shall be given through this mode.
- The remaining 70% shall be awarded by the external examiner appointed by the College.
- The scheme of continuous evaluation and the end-semester viva-voce of the Project shall be as given below:

Components of Evaluation of Project	Marks for the Research Project	Weightage
	(Honours/ Honours with Research)
	12 Credits

Continuous evaluation of project work through interim presentations and reports by the committee internally constituted by the Department Council	90	30%

5. LETTER GRADES AND GRADE POINTS

- Mark system is followed for evaluating each question.
- For each course in the semester letter grade and grade point are introduced in 10-point indirect grading system as per guidelines given below.
- The Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA) is computed from the grades as a measure of the student's performance in a given semester.
- The Cumulative GPA (CGPA) is based on the grades in all courses taken after joining the programme of study.
- Only the weighted grade point based on marks obtained shall be displayed on the grade card issued to the students.

LETTER GRADES AND GRADE POINTS

Sl.	Percentage of Marks	Description	Letter	Grade	Range of	Class

8	Below an aggregate of 35% or below 30% in external	Fail	F	0	0 – 3.49	Fail evaluation
9	Not attending the examination	Absent	Ab	0	0	Fail

- When students take audit courses, they will be given Pass (P) or Fail (F) grade without any credits.
- The successful completion of all the courses and capstone components prescribed for the three-year or four-year programme with 'P' grade shall be the minimum requirement for the award of UG Degree or UG Degree Honours or UG Degree Honours with Research, as the case may be.

5.1. COMPUTATION OF SGPA AND CGPA

• The following method shall be used to compute the Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA):

The SGPA equals the product of the number of credits (Ci) with the grade points (Gi) scored by a student in each course in a semester, summed over all the courses taken by a student in the semester, and then divided by the total number of credits of all the courses taken by the student in the semester,

i.e. SGPA (Si) =
$$\Sigma i$$
 (Ci x Gi) / Σi (Ci)

where Ci is the number of credits of the ith course and Gi is the grade point scored by the student in the ithcourse in the given semester. Credit Point of a course is the value obtained by multiplying the credit (Ci) of the course by the grade point (Gi) of the course.

 $SGPA = \frac{Sum \ of \ the \ credit \ points \ of \ all \ the \ courses \ in \ a \ semester}{Total \ credits \ in \ that \ semester}$

ILLUSTRATION - COMPUTATION OF SGPA

Semester	Course	Credit	Letter	Grade	Credit Point
			Grade	point	(Credit x Grade)
I	Course 1	3	A	8	3 x 8 = 24
I	Course 2	4	B+	7	4 x 7 = 28
I	Course 3	3	В	6	3 x 6 = 18
I	Course 4	3	О	10	3 x 10 = 30
I	Course 5	3	С	5	3 x 5 = 15
I	Course 6	4	В	6	4 x 6 = 24
	Total	20			139
		SGF	139/20 = 6.950

• The Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of the student shall be calculated at the end of a programme. The CGPA of a student determines the overall academic level of the student in a programme and is the criterion for ranking the students.

CGPA for the three-year programme in STCFYUGP shall be calculated by the following formula.

$$CGPA = \frac{Sum \text{ of the credit points of all the courses in six semesters}}{Total \text{ credits in six semesters (133)}}$$

CGPA for the four-year programme in STCFYUGP shall be calculated by the following formula.

$$CGPA = \frac{Sum \text{ of the credit points of all the courses in eight semesters}}{Total \text{ credits in eight semesters (177)}}$$

- The SGPA and CGPA shall be rounded off to three decimal points and reported in the transcripts.
- Based on the above letter grades, grade points, SGPA and CGPA, the college shall issue the transcript for each semester and a consolidated transcript indicating the performance in all semesters.

V		Current research trends in the early Indian History This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:	12
	1	Archaeological Advances in Indian History Discuss recent archaeological discoveries and their impact on our understanding of early Indian history
	2	Comparative Analysis of North and South Indian Cultures Explore the similarities and differences in cultural, social, and economic aspects between North and South India
	3	Critical Examination of Historical Narratives Encourage students to critically assess historical narratives, examining biases and alternative perspectives.

4	Specialized Topics in Ancient Indian History Allow students to delve into specific areas of interest, such as trade routes, technological advancements, or gender roles.
	Activities and assessment of the fifth module For this module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
1	 Archaeological Advances in Indian History
2	Comparative Analysis of North and South Indian Cultures Activity: Cultural Exchange Fair Organize a cultural exchange fair where students represent either North or South Indian cultures.
3	 Critical Examination of Historical Narratives Activity: Debate Assign students to debate teams and propose controversial historical narratives or interpretations. Topics could include debates on the motives of historical figures, the causes of historical events, or the impact of colonialism on Indian history. Each team presents arguments supported by evidence and engages in counter arguments. Evaluation: Debate Performance and Analysis Evaluate students' ability to construct arguments based on historical evidence. Assess their critical analysis of competing narratives and their ability to articulate alternative perspectives. Encourage reflection on the debate process and insights gained from engaging with diverse historical interpretations

4 Specialized Topics in Ancient Indian History Activity: Group Presentation and Discussion

- · Students form groups and select a specific topic within ancient Indian history. Topics should align with the themes discussed in class (Polities, technological advancements, gender roles, etc.)
- · Each group delivers a presentation to the class, summarizing their findings and insights. Presentations should include visual aids, such as slides or posters, to enhance understanding. Following each presentation, there will be a class discussion facilitated by the instructor.

Evaluation: Group Presentation

- · Evaluate the use of visual aids to enhance understanding
- · Require students to present key findings and insights from their research to the class, fostering discussion and feedback.
- · Assess students' ability to communicate complex historical concepts effectively and respond to questions and critiques during the presentation.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 24 units and 5th module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the 5th module . Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the 5th module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules.

HIS5EJ301: GENDER IN HISTORY

Course Description: This course delves into broad debates and theoretical frameworks regarding history, nationalism, colonialism, sexuality, laws, and their intersections with gender. By exploring these connections, often overlooked in the past, students will develop critical thinking skills and gain a richer understanding of historical and social themes. In examining broad trends in writing gendered history, this course will pay particular attention to the unique trajectory of gender history in India. This comparative approach will be further enriched by case studies, allowing students to delve deeper into the multifaceted connections between gender and Indian history.

- 13. What are the distinctive characteristics of each type of coin mentioned?
- 14. Write a note on the important Vedic references to coins?
- 15. Describe the features of uninscribed coins of early India?
- 16. How did the Attic standard revolutionise coinage in the Indian subcontinent
- 17. Where were these coins primarily circulated or used as a medium of exchange?
- 18. When did these various types of coins gain prominence in historical contexts?

Section C

(Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1x10=10 marks)

- 19. Discuss the rise of coinage in Europe.
- 20. Examine the changes in Indian coinage under the rule of the English East India Company

SEMESTER VI

HIS6EJ304: ARCHIVAL SCIENCE AND DIGITAL DOCUMENTATION

Course Description: This course aims to impart knowledge on the practice of archiving and its global progression. It further elucidates the metamorphosis of archival methods in the digital era. The curriculum is designed to equip students with the understanding of critically examining archival data and the significance of preserving such documents to foster democratic values and inclusivity.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having a total of 23 fixed units and  $5^{th}$  module with a variable number of units. There are a total of 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the  $5^{th}$  module. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the  $5^{th}$  module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the 23 units from the fixed modules.

HIS6EJ305 ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND THE STUDY OF HISTORY

Course Description: Each unit would include lectures, readings, discussions, and practical assignments to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the subject. The course aims to equip students with the knowledge and skills to effectively use AI in their historical research. It also encourages critical thinking about the ethical implications of AI use in the field of history

Topics can be chosen based on the hours interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might AI and Historical Contextualization: Explore how AI technologies can aid in 1. contextualizing historical events within broader social, cultural, and political contexts, including sentiment analysis of historical texts and public discourse. 2. AI and Comparative History: Examine the application of AI in comparative historical analysis, including cross-cultural studies, regional comparisons, and global perspectives Facilitated by AI-driven data analysis AI and Heritage Conservation: Investigate how AI tools can assist in heritage 3. conservation efforts, including the identification and preservation of historical sites, monuments, and architectural structures. 4. AI and Community Engagement: Discuss strategies for using AI to engage local Communities in historical research and interpretation, including crowd sourcing initiatives, and digital storytelling platforms. AI and Digital Archives Management: Explore the role of AI in managing digital 5. archives, including metadata enrichment, content recommendation systems, and digital curation techniques for historical collections. AI and Historical Prediction: Examine the potential for AI technologies to assist 6. historians inmakingpredictionsaboutfuturehistoricaltrends, events, and developments Based on historical data analysis and modelling.

7.	AI and Decolonizing History: Explore how AI technologies can contribute to
, .	decolonizing historical narratives and perspectives, including efforts to diversify historical sources,
	Amplify marginalized voices, and challenge Euro centric interpretations of the past
8.	AI and Public Memory: Investigate the role of AI in shaping public memory and commemoration practices, including the use of AI-driven algorithms in memorialization projects, heritage tourism, and digital platforms
9.	AI and Historical Fiction: Reflect on the intersection of AI and historical fiction literature, Including the use of AI-generated narratives, virtual historical reconstructions, and interactive storytelling experiences set in historical contexts.
	ACTIVITIES AND ASSESSMENT FOR THE 5th module
	For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
1.	AI and Historical Contextualization:
	Activity: Analyze historical texts or artifacts using AI sentiment analysis tools to understand the context and emotions surrounding historical events.
	Assessment: Written reflection on how AI-assisted contextualization enhances understanding of historical narratives.
2.	AI and Comparative History:
	Activity: Collaborative research project comparing historical events or phenomena across different regions or cultures using AI-driven data analysis techniques.
	Assessment: Group presentation and report comparing findings and discussing insights gained from comparative analysis.
3.	AI and Heritage Conservation:
	Activity : Virtual tour of historical sites using AI-powered augmented reality applications to explore digital reconstructions and conservation efforts.
	Assessment: Reflective essay on the potential benefits and challenges of using AI in heritage conservation.
4.	AI and Community Engagement:
	Activity: Design and implement a community-driven historical research project using AI tools for data collection, analysis, and interpretation.
	Assessment:
	Evaluation of project outcomes, including community feedback, engagement metrics, and reflections on the collaborative process
5.	AI and Digital Archives Management:
	Activity: Hands-on workshop on using AI tools for digital archives management, including metadata tagging, content recommendation systems, and digital preservation strategies.
	Assessment: Portfolio showcasing application of AI techniques to enhance digital archives management, including sample metadata enhancements and content recommendations.
6.	AI and Historical Prediction:
	Activity: Simulation exercise where students use historical data and AI modeling techniques to make predictions about future historical trends or events.
	Assessment: Written report evaluating the accuracy and reliability of historical predictions
	Made using AI technologies, including reflections on the limitations of predictive modeling.

7. AI and Decolonizing History: Activity: Seminar discussion on decolonizing historical narratives using AI technologies, including case studies and critical reflections on Eurocentric biases in historical interpretation. Assessment: Position paper arguing for the integration of decolonizing perspectives into AI-assisted historical research, supported by evidence from seminar discussions and additional research. AI and Public Memory: 8. Activity: Design and conduct public engagement event using AI technologies to promote awareness and understanding of local historical memory and heritage. Assessment: Event evaluation report analyzing the effectiveness of AI-driven public memory initiatives in engaging diverse audiences and fostering community dialogue. 9. AI and Historical Fiction: Activity: Creative writing exercise where students use AI-generated narratives as inspiration for historical fiction stories set in specific time periods or contexts. Assessment: Peer review and critique of historical fiction stories, focusing on the integration of AI-generated elements and historical accuracy.

HIS6EJ306 Writing Oral History

Course Description:' Writing Oral History' is designed to introduce 'oral history', a method of historical documentation using recorded interviews of people's personal experiences and reflections. Oral history is often providing perspectives that are overlooked in traditional historical texts. It brings history to life by adding a personal dimension to events, eras, and cultures. The course introduces the history and definition of oral history, the fundamentals of conducting oral history interviews, including ethical considerations, and the art of asking effective and engaging questions.

V Dynamics of Media, Art, and Performance in Modern IndianCulture

This module provides a flexible framework for exploring the diverse intersections of media, art, and performance within the cultural landscape of modern India. Faculty can select topics based on their interests and expertise, ensuring alignment with the overarching themes of the syllabus. Here are some suggestive topics:

- 1. Media Representations and Social Change: Analyzing how media platforms such as literature, cinema, and visual arts have reflected and influenced social change in modern India. Topics could include representations of gender, caste, class, and political movements.
- 2. Cultural Politics in Visual Arts: Exploring the role of visual arts in challenging dominant narratives, cultural hegemony, and colonial legacies. Topics could include the emergence of modern Indian Art movements, the depiction of nationalist themes, and the impact of globalization on artistic expression.

- 3. Performance as Cultural Resistance: Investigating how performingarts, including theatre, music, and dance, have been used as tools for cultural resistance and social commentary. Topics could include the role of street theatre in political activism, the revival of folk traditions, and the representation of marginalized voices.
- 4. Media, Art, and Identity Construction: Examining how media and artistic representations contribute to the construction of individual and collective identities in modern India. Topics could include the portrayal of regional identities, religious diversity, and the negotiation of hybrid identities in a globalized world.
- 5. Technological Innovations and Creative Expression: Exploring the impact of technological advancements on media, art, and performance practices. Topics could include the rise of digital media platforms, the democratization of artistic production, and the challenges of preserving traditional art forms in the digital age.
- 6. Cross-cultural Influences in Contemporary Art: Analysing the influences of globalization, migration, and diaspora on contemporary Indian art and cultural production. Topics could include the fusion of traditional and modern artistic techniques, the representation of transnational identities, and the role of Indian art in the global art market.
- 7. Media, Art, and Socio-political Movements: Examining the role of media, art, and performance in shaping socio-political movements and public discourse. Topics could include the use of visual propagandaduring the Indian independence movement, the representation of social justice issues in contemporary art, and the impact of online activism on political mobilization.
- 8. Alternative Media and Subaltern Voices: Exploring the role of alternative media platforms, including grassroots publications, community radio, and online forums, in amplifying subaltern voices and challenging mainstream narratives.

12hrs

Activities and Assessment of the Vth Unit:

Activity 1: Media Analysis Exercise

• Description: Students select a contemporary media artifact (e.g., film, advertisement, news article) that reflects cultural expression or conveys a particular media narrative related to modern India. They analyse the artifact's themes, representations, and underlying messages.

Assessment:

- Written Analysis: Students submit a written analysis of the selected media artifact, addressing its cultural significance, impact, and sociopolitical implications. Assessment criteria include critical analysis, research depth, and clarity of communication.
- Presentation: Students deliver a brief presentation summarizing their analysis to the class, highlighting key findings and insights. Assessment criteria include clarity of presentation, engagement with audience questions, and demonstration of critical thinking.

Activity 2: Cultural Documentary Project

• Description: In groups, students produce a short documentary film exploring a specific aspect of cultural expression or media narrative in modern India. They conduct research, interviews, and fieldwork to create an informative and engaging documentary.

Assessment:

 Documentary Film: The final documentary film is assessed based on its content, production quality, storytelling effectiveness, and adherence to the chosen topic. Evaluation criteria include accuracy of information, creativity, and technical proficiency.

Reflection Paper: Each student writes a reflection paper discussing their contributions to the documentary project, the challenges faced, and lessons learned. Assessment criteria include depth of reflection, self-assessment of skills, and insights gained from the project.

Activity 3: Media Representation Workshop

• Description: Students organize and participate in a workshop focused on media representations and cultural narratives in modern India. They develop interactive activities, discussion topics, and multimedia presentations to engage their peers in critical dialogue.

Assessment:

 Workshop Design: Students submit a detailed plan outlining the workshop structure, objectives, activities, and materials. Assessment criteria include creativity, relevance to module themes, and alignment with learning outcomes. Participation and Peer Feedback: During the workshop, students actively engage in discussions, group activities, and presentations. Peers provide feedback on their contributions, assessing their level of engagement, preparation, and facilitation skills.

Activity 4: Cultural Expression Exhibition

 Description: Students curate an exhibition showcasing various forms of cultural expression and media narratives in modern India. They select artworks, photographs, artifacts, and media samples that exemplify key themes explored in the module.

Assessment:

• Exhibition Curation: Each student contributes to the exhibition by selecting and preparing materials for display. Assessment criteria include the diversity of chosen artifacts, thematic coherence, and presentation quality.

Exhibition Guidebook: Students collaboratively create a guidebook providing contextual information, analysis, and interpretation of the exhibited items.

Assessment criteria include depth of research, clarity of writing, and effectiveness of communication.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 22 units and  $5^{th}$  module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hoursfor the fixed modules and 12 hours for the  $5^{th}$  module . Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the  $5^{th}$  module (10marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules

HIS8EJ406 PRINTING AND THE ARRIVAL OF BOOKS

Course Description: This course explores the evolution of writing, the invention of printing, and its profound impact on societies, cultures, and knowledge dissemination. Through a historical lens, students will analyze the origins of writing, the transformative impact of Gutenberg's printing press, and the specific influence of printing in India and Kerala. By examining scholarly texts, and case studies, students will gain a comprehensive understanding of how printing revolutionized communication and contributed to the spread of ideas across the globe.

Activities and Assessment for the Vth Unit
Digital Disruption Debate:
Activity: Divide the class into groups and assign each group a stance on the impact of digital disruption on print media (positive, negative, neutral).  Assessment: Assess students based on their participation in the debate, quality of arguments, and ability to articulate viewpoints supported by evidence
Print Media Campaign Analysis:
Activity: Assign students to analyze a print media campaign related to social justice, environmental sustainability, or another relevant issue.
Assessment: Evaluate students' analyses based on their ability to identify campaign objectives, target audience, messaging strategies, and effectiveness in achieving intended outcomes.
Misinformation Simulation:

Activity: Create a simulation where students are presented with fake news articles and tasked with fact-checking and debunking them.
Assessment: Assess students based on their ability to critically evaluate information, identify misinformation, and communicate findings effectively.
Environmental Impact Assessment:
Activity: Organize a field trip to a local printing facility or invite a guest speaker from the print industry to discuss environmental sustainability practices.
Assessment: Evaluate students based on their reflection papers or presentations highlighting key environmental impacts of print media production and proposed solutions for improvement.
Cultural Heritage Preservation Project:
Activity: Divide students into groups and assign each group a print material (e.g., newspaper, book, photograph) to research and propose preservation strategies.
Assessment: Evaluate students' proposals based on their understanding of preservation challenges, feasibility of proposed solutions, and consideration of cultural significance.
Globalization Case Study Analysis:
Activity: Assign students to analyze a case study of print media globalization, such as the circulation of newspapers across borders or the adaptation of magazines for international markets.
Assessment: Assess students' case study analyses based on their ability to identify key factors influencing globalization, analyze cultural implications, and propose recommendations for future strategies.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 26 units and 5th module with a variable number of units. There is total 48instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the 5th module. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split betweenthe 5th module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules

HIS8EJ407 HISTORY OF KERALA SCHOOL OF MATHEMATICS

Course description: The proposed paper intended to provide an in-depth knowledge in the historical background of the so called 'Kerala School of Mathematics.' Importance is given to the historical aspects than the pure mathematical computations and problem solving. It follows the method of general to particular. Fist two sections deal with mathematical developments in the worldand in India respectively. The next two sections specifically deal the special features of Kerala Mathematics. It gives an opportunity to make comparisons and understand the quality of the indigenous mathematical system. It reinforces further researches in this area

Before the colonial intervention, Kerala had its own measurement system in different areas like calculation of time, carpentry, distance, metallurgy and so on. Such practices can be introduced
Activities and Assessment for the Vth Unit
For the 5 th module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methodsaligned with the potential topics:
Survey of the Manuscripts related to the mathematics in the nearby manuscript library: Group work and presentations
Teachers give some hints about the repositories where the related manuscripts are available
• Task can be divided and groups can be created to do the assigned works  Evaluation: students attempt to locate the historical documents and their sentations Observe students attempt to find out the related sources. Assess the clarity of presentation, and critical analysis of the documents.
Collection of the mathematical puzzles popular in common parlance:
<ul> <li>Field survey is suggested. Students can contact the elderly people and their memories are to be recorded.</li> <li>Students are encouraged to find out the answers for the puzzles. They can</li> </ul> collaborate with the mathematics department also.  Evaluation: Participation and Reflection Assess students' active participation in the collection of data through different sources.
Their presentation of data can also be evaluated
Developing awareness on the components of Mathematical Intelligence:
Seminar presentations and debates can be conducted. Experts from psychology or neurobiological sciences can be invited <ul> <li>Students can be grouped and discussions can be conducted.</li> <li>Evaluation: Debate Performance and Analytical power</li> </ul>
Evaluate students' ability to construct arguments based on scientific knowledge.  Accept their aritical analysis.
Assess their critical analysis.
Knowing the different measurement systems prevailed in pre-colonial Kerala
• Different groups cane formed. Ask each group to find out measurement systems prevailed in each area.
• They are also asked to prepare chart showing the old units and corresponding modern equivalents.

Evaluation: Participation and Presentation

- Assess the ability in collaborative learning
- Evaluate the charts presented by them

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 22 units and 5th module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the 5th module. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the 5th module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules

HIS1MN102: Field Study and Documentation

Maximum time: 2 Maximum Mark:70

Section A (Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24 marks)

Define field study and explain its importance in research.

List and describe the different types of field study.

Discuss the weaknesses of traditional research methods compared to field study research.

Outline the key steps involved in planning a field study.

What practical aspects and technologies are commonly used in field studies?

Explain the process of framing a research problem in the context of field study research.

Differentiate between primary and secondary sources in research.

What are archival materials and why are they important in field study research?

Describe the importance of preserving research sources.

Discuss the ethical issues that can arise in field study research.

Section B (Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

Describe the role of background research in preparing for a field study.

Compare and contrast the use of primary and secondary sources in field study research.

Explain the significance of pre-field study work in the context of conducting effective field trips.

Discuss the methods and challenges of data collection in field studies.

How can digital tools enhance the process of field study research?

Outline the ethical considerations involved in conducting interviews during a field study.

Explain the importance of data storage and management in field study research.

Describe the steps involved in the peer review and publication process of historical research papers.

Section C (Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1x10=10 marks)

Analyze the process of qualitative and quantitative data analysis in historical research, providing examples of how each method can be applied.

Discuss the ethical considerations in historical research and the impact of these considerations on the interpretation and reporting of research findings.

COURSE 2 (GROUP 2)

HIS2MN102 HISTORY OF LATERITE MONUMENTAL BUILDINGS IN WESTERN COASTAL PLAIN OF INDIA

Course Description: This course explores the rich history and architectural significance of laterite monumental buildings in the Western Coastal Plain of India. Through a comprehensive examination of geological, geographical, and cultural factors, students will gain an understanding of the evolution, construction, and preservation of these unique structures.

	heritage sites.
	Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module
	For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
5.	Sustainable Building Design with Laterite
	Activity: Comparative Analysis Discussion
	Students review and discuss various designs of sustainable buildings constructed with laterite that they have studied. They analyze the cultural, environmental, and community aspects of each design, considering factors like aesthetics, functionality, and local context.
	Evaluation Method: Group Discussion
	Each group presents their analysis of a selected design to the class, highlighting its strengths and weaknesses. Peers engage in a discussion comparing the different designs, discussing which aspects they find most favourable and why.
6.	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation
	Activity: Digital Heritage Exhibition
	Students research a chosen laterite monument and create a digital exhibition showcasing its history, significance, and preservation efforts. They use accessible digital tools like presentation software or online platforms to compile information, images, and multimedia content.
	Evaluation Method: Exhibition Presentation and Reflection Each student presents their digital exhibition to the class, highlighting key insights and discoveries. Peers provide feedback on the effectiveness of the presentation and the depth of research, focusing on clarity, engagement, and relevance.
7.	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage
	Activity: Case Study Discussion and Analysis
	Students analyze case studies of successful heritage preservation projects, focusing on collaborative efforts and community involvement. They discuss the challenges faced, ethical considerations, and the impact of interdisciplinary teamwork.
	Evaluation Method: Group Discussion and Written Reflection
	After the discussion, students write reflective essays on the importance of teamwork in heritage preservation, drawing from the case studies and personal insights. Essays are assessed based on critical analysis, depth of reflection, and integration of course concepts.
8.	New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings
	Activity: Conservation Material Research Project
	Students research different conservation materials used in preserving laterite monuments, focusing on their properties, historical use, and environmental impact. They create informative posters or presentations summarizing their findings and recommendations.
	Evaluation Method: Research Presentation and Group Discussion Each student presents their research to the class, discussing the significance of their chosen materials and their suitability for heritage 1 significance of their enosen materials and their suttability for heritage conservation. Peers engage in a group discussion, exploring the pros and cons of various conservation materials and sharing insights from their research.

9.	Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites
	Activity: Stakeholder Role-Play and Debate	i
	Students role-play as stakeholders involved in the management of a	1
	laterite heritage site, such as local residents, government officials, tour	ı operators, and environmentalists. They participate in a simulated debate or negotiation, discussing the challenges and opportunities of tourism development while preserving cultural heritage.
	Evaluation Method: Role-Play Performance and Reflective Essay
	Students write reflective essays, analyzing their role-play experience and the complexities of balancing tourism and heritage conservation.
	Essays are assessed based on critical reflection, depth of	i understanding, and consideration of multiple perspectives.	i

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 32 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 32 fixed modules.

HIS8MN302 History of Archaeo-Iron metallurgy and Mining in Pre-modern India

Course description: This course offers a comprehensive exploration of the history, techniques, and cultural significance of iron metallurgy and mining in PreModern India. Through a multidisciplinary approach encompassing archaeology, history, and anthropology, students will delve into the origins, development, and socio-economic implications of metalworking in ancient India, with a particular focus on iron technology methods aligned with the potential topics:

10.	Field Survey and Documentation of Iron Ore Deposits:
	Activity: Organize a field trip to a local area with known iron ore deposits. Students work in groups to conduct geological surveys, collect samples, and document the location, composition, and accessibility of the deposits.
	Assessment: Students submit a comprehensive report detailing their findings, including geological maps, sample analysis results, and

11.	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy:
	Activity: Assign students to research historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions. They analyze primary sources, such as archaeological artifacts, trade records, and cultural texts, to identify instances of exchange and collaboration.
	Assessment: Students present their research findings in a seminar format, discussing the impact of cultural and technological exchanges on metalworking practices and providing evidence to support their conclusions.
12.	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques:
	Activity: Divide students into small groups and assign each group a specific period or region to investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques. They analyze archaeological artifacts, experimental data, and historical texts to trace the evolution of tools and techniques over time.
	Assessment: Students create a timeline or visual presentation highlighting key innovations in ironworking tools and techniques, accompanied by explanations of their technological significance and implications for iron metallurgy.
13.	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities:

14. | Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts:

Activity: Students select a specific iron artifact from a chosen culture or time period and conduct in-depth researchon its cultural significance. They examine the artifact's symbolic meanings, religious associations, and socio- economic value within its cultural context.

Assessment: Students create a multimedia presentation or museumstyle exhibit showcasing their chosen iron artifact, providing detailed explanations of its cultural significance and supporting their interpretations with evidence from primary sources.

15. Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods:

Activity: Assign students to investigate historical trade networks involved in the exchange of metal goods across different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond. They analyze trade routes, archaeological evidence, and written records to map out the flow of metal goods and identify key trading centres.

Assessment: Students develop a trade network map or infographic illustrating the exchange of metal goods between regions, accompanied by an analytical essay discussing the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times.

16. Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation:

Activity: Organize a community engagement initiative where students visit local iron craft communities or workshops to interact with artisans and craftsmen. They can observe traditional ironworking techniques, participate in hands-on demonstrations, and engage in discussions with practitioners to understand their craft traditions, knowledge systems, and cultural significance.

Assessment: Students are tasked with compiling oral histories and ethnographic data gathered from interactions with the local iron craft community. They document the experiences, stories, and insights shared by artisans, capturing the intangible heritage of ironworking traditions. Assessment may include the submission of written reports, audio recordings, or multimedia presentations showcasing their findings and reflections on the cultural significance of iron craft practices within the community. Additionally, students may reflect on theimplications of these oral histories for understanding the socio- cultural dynamics of PreModern iron metallurgy and mining in India.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 26 units and 5th module with a variable number of units. V	Impact of historical events, figures, or social issues on contemporary society  Students select a historical event, figure, or social issue from the English history timeline (e.g., the Chartist Movement's fight for voting rights, the Industrial Revolution's impact on social classes). Encourage students to delve into the historical context, causes, and consequences of their chosen topic. Students then research how the chosen historical event, figure, or issue continues to influence contemporary society, politics, or culture. For example, if the topic is the Chartist Movement, students might explore ongoing debates about voter access and social justice movements.	12

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having total 23 fixed units and  $5^{th}$  module with a variable number of units. There are total 48 instructional hours forthe fixed modules and 12 hours for the  $5^{th}$  module. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the  $5^{th}$  module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The finalexam, however, covers only the 23 units from the fixed modules

GROUP 8 FOOD HISTORY

HIS1MN108Food: A Global Perspective

Course Description: Food is more than sustenance; it is a lens through which we can explore the past, understand cultures, and trace the evolution of societies. In this undergraduate course, -Food in World History, we will examine the fascinating journey of food across time and continents. From ancient civilizations to modern global food systems, we'll uncover the stories behind what we eat. The five units that make up this course cover the basic ideas of food history and the significance of food in ancient, medieval, and modern world history. Through engaging lectures, readings, and discussions, we will explore the role of food in shaping human civilization.

Activity 1: Research and Curation Students will work in groups to research different time periods. They will select key food items, cooking methods, and cultural practices to include in their exhibit.  Activity 2: Exhibit Design Each group will create a layout for their exhibit, deciding how to visually represent the progression of Indian food culture. They can use drawings, digital designs, or physical	12 models to bring their exhibit to life.  Activity 3: Exhibit Presentation and Walkthrough  Groups will present their exhibits to the class, explaining the significance of each item and its place in the historical timeline.  They will also provide a walkthrough of the exhibit, either virtually or using their physical models.  Assessment Exhibit Portfolio:

Students will submit a portfolio that includes their research, exhibit design, and explanations for each item.
Assessment criteria will focus on historical accuracy, creativity, and depth of analysis.
Presentation Evaluation
Students will be assessed on their presentation skills, ability to engage the audience, and the clarity of their walkthrough.
Peer Feedback
Students will provide feedback on their peers' exhibits, focusing on the educational value and historical representation.
This activity encourages students to synthesize information from the entire course, apply critical thinking, and engage in creative expression. It also allows for collaborative learning and peer to peer interaction.

V		The diversity and richness of Kerala cuisine. Students will organize and participate in a food festival that showcases the diversity and richness of Kerala cuisine. They will apply their knowledge of the history, culture, and influences of Kerala food from the four units of the course. They will also learn about the preparation, presentation, and consumption of various dishes from different regions and religions in Kerala.	12
		Title: Kerala Food Fest(Example) Activity 1: Planning the food festival Students will form groups of four and choose a theme for their food festival stall based on one of thefour units of the course. For example, they can chooseTraditional Food Culture of Kerala',Foreign Influence on Kerala Food',Food in Modern Kerala', orFood as Culture in Contemporary Kerala'.
		Students will research and select at least four dishes that represent their theme. They will also write a brief introduction and explanation of each dish, including its history, ingredients, preparation, and significance.
		Students will prepare a budget and a shopping listfor their dishes. They will also decide on the decoration, layout, and presentation of their stall. They will make a poster or a banner that displays their theme and the names of their dishes.

Activity 2: Preparing and presenting the food festival

Students will cook their dishes at home, following the recipes and safety guidelines. They will also bring their own utensils, plates, napkins, and other necessary items for serving their dishes.

Students will set up their stalls in the college or cafeteria, following their plan and design. They will also display their poster or banner and their introduction and explanation of each dish.

Students will invite other students, teachers, and guests to visit their stalls and taste their dishes. They will also explain their theme and the dishes to the visitors and answer any questions they may have. They will also collect feedback from the visitors.

Activity 3: Reflecting and evaluating the food festival Students will write a reflection paper on their experience of organizing and participating in the food festival. They will describe their theme, their dishes, their challenges, their successes, and their learnings. They will also analyse the feedback they received from the visitors and suggest any improvements for future food festivals.

Students will present their reflection paper to the class and share their insights and feedback. They will also listen to and comment on the reflection papers of other groups and appreciate their efforts and achievements.

Assessment: The assessment will be based on the following criteria:

Content: The dishes, the introduction and explanation, and the reflection paper should demonstrate a clear understanding of the history, culture, and influences of Kerala food from the four units of the course. They should also show an awareness of the diversity and richness of Kerala cuisine and its relevance to contemporary society.

Creativity: The theme, the decoration, the presentation, and the reflection paper should use original and engaging ways to showcase the Kerala food. They should also use appropriate and relevant visuals, text, and audio to support their points.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having total 22 fixed units and 5th module with a variable number of units. There are total 48 instructional hours forthe fixed modules and 12 hours for the 5th module. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the 5th module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The finalexam, however, covers only the 22 units from the fixed modules.

V	Current research trends in Gender History: This unit is 12hrs
•	customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:
	Gender and Social Media:
	Discuss the influence of social media on gender identity and expression.
	Case Study: Analyze the impact of a viral social media campaign (e.g.,
	#MeToo) on gender awareness and activism
	MeToo Movement:
	Explore the origins and effects of the MeToo movement.
	Case Study: Examine a high-profile MeToo case and its implications for workplace policies and societal attitudes towards sexual harassment.
	Gender Pay Gap:
	Investigate the factors contributing to the gender pay gap.
	Case Study: Discuss recent data and reports on the gender pay gap in various industries and regions, and evaluate strategies to address it.
	Transgender Rights:
	Examine the legal and social challenges faced by transgender individuals.
	Case Study: Analyze a recent legal case or policy change affecting transgender rights (e.g., bathroom bills, military service).
	Representation in Media:
	Analyze how different genders are portrayed in media.
	Case Study: Critically evaluate a recent film, TV show, or advertisement for its representation of gender and its impact on public perceptions.
	Violence Against Women:
	Investigate incidents of violence against women and societal responses.

Case Study: Discuss a recent high-profile case of violence against women (e.g., domestic violence, femicide) and examine the effectiveness of the legal and support systems in place. Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics: Discussion Groups: Activity: Divide the class into small groups to discuss the topic of the day. Each group will analyze a specific aspect of the issue and present their findings to the class. Assessment: Participation and quality of contributions during group discussions and presentations. Case Study Analysis: Activity: Assign a real-world case study related to the issue being discussed. Students will work individually or in groups to analyze the case and propose solutions or responses. Assessment: Written case study reports and group presentations, evaluated based on depth of analysis, understanding of the issue, and creativity in proposed solutions. Debates: Activity: Organize debates on controversial gender-related topics. Students will be divided into pro and con teams and will prepare arguments to present and defend their positions. Assessment: Performance in debates, including the quality of arguments, rebuttals, and overall engagement. Media Analysis: Activity: Have students select a piece of media (e.g., article, film, advertisement) related to the issue. They will analyze the media's portrayal of gender and its impact on public perceptions. Assessment: Media analysis papers and presentations, evaluated based on critical thinking, analysis, and presentation skills. Guest Speaker O&A: Activity: Invite a guest speaker (e.g., activist, expert, or scholar) to discuss a relevant gender issue. Students will prepare questions in advance and engage in a Q&A session. Assessment: Quality and relevance of questions prepared, and participation during the Q&A session.

Role-Playing Exercises:

Activity: Conduct role-playing exercises where students take on different perspectives related to the issue (e.g., policymaker, activist, affected individual). This helps them understand diverse viewpoints and develop empathy.

Assessment: Performance during role-playing, including understanding of the role, engagement, and ability to articulate the perspective.

Reflection Journals:

Activity: Students will maintain a reflection journal throughout the module, where they record their thoughts, insights, and reactions to the discussions and activities.

Assessment: Regular review of journals, evaluating depth of reflection, personal insights, and critical engagement with the issues.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 22 units and 5th module with a variable number of units. There is total 48instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the 5th module . Internal assessments (30 marks) are split betweenthe 5th module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules activities.

28	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy: Research and analyze historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions of the Indian subcontinent and neighbouring civilizations, exploring the impact of these exchanges on metalworking practices.
29	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques: Investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques over time, examining archaeological evidence and experimental data to understand how innovations in tool design and manufacturingprocesses contributed to advancements in iron metallurgy
30	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities: Study the environmental impact of ancient mining activities, including soil erosion, deforestation, and water pollution, and discuss the implications for sustainability and resource management inPreModern societies
31.	Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts: Explore the cultural significance of iron artifacts in ancient societies, analyzing their symbolic meanings, religious rituals, and socio-economic value within different cultural contexts.
32.	Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods: Investigate trade networks and the exchange of metal goods between different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond, exploring the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times
33.	Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation: Students will engage directly with local iron craft communities, observing traditional techniques and conversing with artisans to document oral histories. Through this immersive experience, they'll gain insights into the cultural significance of ironworking traditions and contribute to the preservation of intangible heritage.
	Activities and Assessment for th5th module here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
34.	Field Survey and Documentation of Iron Ore Deposits:  Activity: Organize a field trip to a local area with known iron ore deposits. Students work in groups to conduct geological surveys, collect samples, and document the location, composition, and accessibility of the deposits.  Assessment: Students submit a comprehensive report detailingtheir findings, including geological maps, sample analysis results, and interpretations of the significance of the iron ore deposits for ancient mining activities

35.	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy:  Activity: Assign students to research historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions. They analyze primary sources, such as archaeological artifacts, trade records, and cultural texts, to identify instances of exchange and collaboration.  Assessment: Students present their research findings in a seminar format, discussing the impact of cultural and technological exchanges on metalworking practices and providing evidence to support their conclusions.
36.	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques:  Activity: Divide students into small groups and assign each group a specific period or region to investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques. They analyze archaeological artifacts, experimental data, and historical texts to trace the evolution of tools and techniques over time.  Assessment: Students create a timeline or visual presentation highlighting key innovations in ironworking tools and techniques, accompanied by explanations of their technological significance and implications for iron metallurgy.
37.	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities:  Activity: Students conduct research on the environmental impact of ancient mining activities, focusing on case studies from different regions of the Indian subcontinent. They analyze historical records, archaeological evidence, and environmental data to assess the extent of soil erosion, deforestation, and water pollution caused by mining.  Assessment: Students prepare a written report or multimedia presentation summarizing their findings, including anevaluation of the environmental impact of ancient mining activities and recommendations for sustainable resource management practices
38.	Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts:  Activity: Students select a specific iron artifact from a chosen culture or time period and conduct in-depth research on its cultural significance. They examine the artifact's symbolic meanings, religious associations, and socio-economic value within its cultural context.  Assessment: Students create a multimedia presentation or museumstyle exhibit showcasing their chosen iron artifact, providing detailed explanations of its cultural significance and supporting their interpretations with evidence from primary sources.

39.	Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods:  Activity: Assign students to investigate historical trade networks involved in the exchange of metal goods across different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond. They analyze trade routes, archaeological evidence, and written records to map out the flow of metal goods and identify key trading centres.
	Assessment: Students develop a trade network map or infographic illustrating the exchange of metal goods between regions, accompanied by an analytical essay discussing the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times.
40.	Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation:
	Activity: Organize a community engagement initiative where students visit local iron craft communities or workshops to interact with artisans and craftsmen. They can observe traditional ironworking techniques, participate in hands-on demonstrations, and engage in discussions with practitioners to understand their craft traditions, knowledge systems, and cultural significance.  Assessment: Students are tasked with compiling oral histories and ethnographic data gathered from interactions with the localiron craft community. They document the experiences, stories, and insights shared by artisans, capturing the intangible heritage of ironworking traditions. Assessment may include the submission of written reports, audio recordings, ormultimedia presentations showcasing their findings and reflections on the cultural significance of iron craft practices within the community. Additionally, students may reflect on the implications of these oral histories for understanding the sociocultural dynamics of PreModern iron metallurgy and mining in India.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 26 units and  $5^{th}$  module with a variable number of units. There is total 48instructionalhoursfor the fixed modules and 12 hours for the  $5^{th}$  module . Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the  $5^{th}$  module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The finalexam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 26 fixed modules

HIS8VN301 : History of Archaeo-Iron metallurgy and Mining in Pre-Modern India (Credits: 4)

Maximum Time: 2 hours Maximum Marks: 70

Section A

[ Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks] (Ceiling: 24 marks)

Archaeometallurgy
Painted Grey Ware
Pyrotechnology
Robert Bruce Foote
Iron furnace
Wootz
Bloomery iron
Alloys
Megalithic Culture
Second Urbanization

Section B

[Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks] (Ceiling: 36 marks)

Explain the historical perspectives of metals and their alloys which leading to the growth of civilization

What are the main source materials for the study of ancient metallurgy in India? 13. How did traditional knowledge system help us to find iron metallurgical advancement in India?

Write a note on Metal Technology in Medieval Historical Archaeology
15.Critically examine the metallurgical research of Iron in South India
What are the prerequisites for the iron making process in ancient India?
Analyse the main features of Archaeological studies of the material remainsof
Iron Age in Kerala

Discuss the nature of archaeological remains in megalithic sites

Section C

[Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks] (1x10=10 marks)

—Iron metallurgy is an important metal to influence the march of urbanization in India. Substantiate.

20Account on the contributions of Ethno-Archaeological Evidences on Archaeometallurgy in South India

Section A

(Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24 marks)

Define field study and explain its importance in research.

List and describe the different types of field study.

Discuss the weaknesses of traditional research methods compared to field study research.

Outline the key steps involved in planning a field study. What practical aspects and technologies are commonly used in field studies? Explain the process of framing a research problem in the context of field study research.

Differentiate between primary and secondary sources in research. What are archival materials and why are they important in field study research?

Describe the importance of preserving research sources.

Discuss the ethical issues that can arise in field study research.

Section B (Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

Describe the role of background research in preparing for a field study. Compare and contrast the use of primary and secondary sources in field study research.

Explain the significance of pre-field study work in the context of conducting effective field trips.

Discuss the methods and challenges of data collection in field studies.

How can digital tools enhance the process of field study research?

Outline the ethical considerations involved in conducting interviews during a field study.

Explain the importance of data storage and management in field study research. Describe the steps involved in the peer review and publication process of historical research papers.

Section C (Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1x10=10 marks)

Analyze the process of qualitative and quantitative data analysis in historical research, providing examples of how each method can be applied. Discuss the ethical considerations in historical research and the impact of these considerations on the interpretation and reporting of research findings

Course 2(GROUP 2) HIS2VN102 Historical Tourism and Tour Guiding

Course description: This comprehensive course encompasses fundamental tourism concepts, including classifications such as international and domestic, and the nuanced relationship between history and travel motivators. Analyze the historical evolution of the tourism industry, tracing its genesis from ancient times through pivotal eras, and scrutinize the influence of early travelers on destinations like India. A critical evaluation of diverse tourism typologies, encompassing cultural, religious, and emergent niche forms, is a focal point. The course rigorously examines the economic, socio-cultural, and environmental impacts of tourism, affording students a discerning perspective on both favorable and adverseconsequences. The unique context of Kerala, India, is accentuated, and the curriculum culminates in an exploration of specialized tourism categories and a meticulous analysis of mitigating negative impacts

II Semester BA (STCFYUGP) Degree Examinations October 2024

HIS2VN102 Historical Tourism and Tour Guiding

Maximum time: 2 Maximum Mark: 70

Section A (Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24 marks)

Define historical tourism and explain its scope

Discuss the role and significance of tour guides in historical tourism.

Outline the basics of tour guiding ethics

Provide a brief introduction to heritage tourism

What is the key communication skills required for tour guides?

Describe some basic guiding techniques used by tour guides.

Explain the classification and features of historical sites.

Discuss the importance of local history in guiding tours.

How do guides interpret architectural styles for tourists?

What are the best practices for handling artifacts and cultural objects during tours?

Section B (Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

Analyze the economic and cultural importance of heritage tourism.

Discuss the challenges faced in the management of heritage tourism sites.

Evaluate sustainable tourism practices and their importance in heritage tourism

How can guides effectively interact with and manage diverse tourist groups?

What strategies can guides use to handle difficult situations during tours?

Explain the concept and significance of heritage walks in historical tourism.

Discuss how technology can be integrated into heritage walks to enhance the tourist experience.

Analyze the importance of cultural sensitivity and inclusivity in tour guiding.

Section C (Answer Anyone. Each question carries 10 marks)

 $(1 \times 10 = 10)$

Discuss the multifaceted role of tour guides in promoting heritage tourism and the impact they have on tourist experiences and site preservation

Examine the future of heritage tourism, focusing on the opportunities for growth andthe challenges that need to be addressed to ensure sustainable development.

Course 3 (GROUP 2) HIS3VN202 Laterite Studies in Historical Perspective

Course Description: This course explores the rich history and architectural significance of laterite monumental buildings in the Western Coastal Plain of India. Through a comprehensive examination of geological, geographical, and cultural factors, students will gain an understanding of the evolution, construction, and preservation of these unique structures.

V	Current research trends in architectural significance of laterite monumental buildings in the Western Coastal Plain of India.  This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:  Sustainable Building Design with Laterite: Explore the principles of sustainable building design using laterite as a primary material. Discuss the environmental benefits and challenges of using laterite in construction, and examine case studies of innovative sustainable buildings incorporating laterite.
2.	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation : Introduce students to digital tools and technologies utilized for the preservation and documentation of laterite heritage sites. Explore how modern technology, like virtual reality and digital mapping, helps protect and share the stories of ancient laterite structures. Through hands-on activities and demonstrations, learn how these digital tools can bring history to life and make it accessible to everyone, preserving our cultural heritage for future generations.
3.	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage : Facilitate discussions on interdisciplinary collaboration in heritage conservation, focusing on the roles and contributions of archaeologists, architects, conservation scientists, and community stakeholders. Invite guest speakers from diverse backgrounds to share their experiences and insights into collaborative conservation projects.
4.	New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings: Examine recent advancements in conservation materials and techniques for preserving laterite monuments. Explore case studies of successful conservation projects, highlighting innovative approaches to structural stabilization, surface protection, and long-term maintenance of ancient buildings.

5.	Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites : Analyze the relationship between tourism development and heritage conservation, with a focus on laterite- rich regions. Discuss strategies for sustainable tourism management, community engagement, and cultural preservation, and encourage critical reflection on the impacts of tourism on local heritage sites.
ó.	Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
'.	Sustainable Building Design with Laterite
	Activity: Comparative Analysis Discussion
	Students review and discuss various designs of sustainable buildings constructed with laterite that they have studied. They analyze the cultural, environmental, and community aspects of each design, considering factors like aesthetics, functionality, and local context.
	Evaluation Method: Group Discussion
	Each group presents their analysis of a selected design to the class, highlighting its strengths and weaknesses. Peers engage in a discussion comparing the different designs, discussing which aspects they find most favourable and why.
 	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation
•	Activity: Digital Heritage Exhibition
	Students research a chosen laterite monument and create a digital exhibition showcasing its history, significance, and preservation efforts. They use accessible digital tools like presentation software or online platforms to compile information, images, and multimedia content.
	Evaluation Method: Exhibition Presentation and Reflection Each student presents their digital exhibition to the class, highlighting key insights and discoveries. Peers provide feedback on the effectiveness of the presentation and the depth of research, focusing on clarity, engagement, and relevance.
).	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage
	Activity: Case Study Discussion and Analysis Students analyze case studies of successful heritage preservation projects, focusing on collaborative efforts and community involvement. They discuss the challenges faced, ethical considerations, and the impact of interdisciplinary teamwork.
	Evaluation Method: Group Discussion and Written Reflection
	After the discussion, students write reflective essays on the importance of teamwork in heritage preservation, drawing from the case studies and personal insights. Essays are assessed based on critical analysis, depth of reflection, and integration of course concepts.

10. New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings

Activity: Conservation Material Research Project

Students research different conservation materials used in preserving laterite monuments, focusing on their properties, historical use, and environmental impact. They create informative posters or presentations summarizing their findings and recommendations.

Evaluation Method: Research Presentation and Group Discussion

Each student presents their research to the class, discussing the significance of their chosen materials and their suitability for heritage conservation. Peers engage in a group discussion, exploring the pros and cons of various conservation materials and sharing insights from their research.

11. Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites

Activity: Stakeholder Role-Play and Debate

Students role-play as stakeholders involved in the management of a laterite heritage site, such as local residents, government officials, tour operators, and environmentalists. They participate in a simulated debate or negotiation, discussing the challenges and opportunities of tourismdevelopment while preserving cultural heritage.

Evaluation Method: Role-Play Performance and Reflective Essay

Students write reflective essays, analyzing their role-play experience and the complexities of balancing tourism and heritage conservation. Essays are assessed based on critical reflection, depth of understanding, and consideration of multiple perspectives.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 32 units an 5th module with a variable number of units. There is total 48instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the 5th module . Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the 5th module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The finalexam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 32 fixed modules.

HIS4FS112-2/HIS5FS112-2 Cartography and Map Making

Course Description:

This course introduces students to the fundamentals of cartography and map making. It covers the principals of map design, spatial analysis, and the use of Geographic Information System (GIS) for creating and interpreting maps. The course aims to enhance students' spatial literacy and provide practical skills in map production. It further looks at the history of cartography in India that spanned over pre-colonial, colonial and contemporary period. The evolution of cartography in Kerala too comes under the purview of the course.

	3	Community Engagement: Designing and implementinga community service project inspired by Gandhian ideals
	4	Leadership and Ethics: Examining the influence of Gandhian ethics on contemporary leaders
		Activities and assessment for the Vth Unit
		For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
	1.	Political Activism:
		<ul> <li>Activity: Divide students into groups and assign each group a modern political movement that utilized nonviolent resistance (e.g., Civil Rights Movement, Women's Suffrage Movement, Arab Spring). Have each group research and analyse the strategies, leaders, and outcomes of their assigned movement.</li> <li>Assessment: Each group presents their findings, highlighting the role of nonviolent resistance, key challenges faced, and the impact of theirchosen movement on society. Assessment criteria can include depth of analysis, clarity of presentation, and critical thinking skills.</li> </ul>
	2.	Conflict Resolution:
		Activity: Present case studies of conflicts where principles of Ahimsa have been applied effectively (e.g., South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission, Northern Ireland Peace Process). Facilitate group discussions where students explore the application of nonviolent principles in resolving conflicts.  • Assessment: Ask students to write reflective essays discussing the effectiveness of Ahimsa in conflict resolution, drawing on examples from the case studies. Assessment criteria can include depth of reflection, understanding of nonviolent principles, and critical analysis of outcomes.

3.	<ul> <li>Activity: Task students with identifying a community issue or challenge and designing a community service project inspired by Gandhian ideals of nonviolence, empathy, and inclusivity. Encourage students to collaborate with local organizations or community members in project planning and implementation.</li> <li>Assessment: Students present their community service projects, outlining their goals, strategies, and expected impact on the community. Assessment criteria can include projectfeasibility, alignment with Gandhian principles, and potential for community engagement and empowerment.</li> </ul>
4.	<ul> <li>Activity: Assign students to research contemporary leaders who exemplify Gandhian ethics and values (e.g., Nelson Mandela, Martin Luther King Jr., Aung San Suu Kyi). Students analyse the leadership styles, ethical dilemmas faced, and the impact of their chosen leaders on society.</li> <li>Assessment: Students create multimedia presentations or written reports discussing the influence of Gandhian ethics on the leadership and legacy of their chosen leaders. Assessment criteria can include depth of analysis, clarity of presentation, and critical reflection on ethical leadership principles.</li> </ul>
